

NEURO NEDS

MOVING FROM AWARENESS TO ACTION

The Neuro NEDs Charter for Neuroinclusive Performance

A practical commitment to better work, stronger performance and fairer opportunity.

THE COMMITMENT

Five commitments. One senior sponsor. One practical action. One annual review.

Easy to join. Clear about what it means. Strong enough to matter.

The Charter gives organisations an accessible way to begin or strengthen their approach to neuroinclusion. Every organisation starts from a different place. Every signatory commits to turn good intent into visible, accountable action.

Signing is a commitment to act, learn and review progress. It is not an accreditation or a claim of perfection.

The five commitments

The Charter is built around five practical commitments. Organisations apply them proportionately to their size, context, workforce and responsibilities.

Listen and create psychological safety

We will listen to neurodivergent people, involve them in relevant decisions and work towards conditions where people can discuss barriers, request support and contribute without unnecessary fear of judgement or disadvantage.

Remove avoidable barriers

We will consider neuroinclusion across recruitment, communication, work design, working environments, performance, development and progression.

Make support easier to access

We will use inclusive practices wherever possible and provide appropriate individual support and reasonable adjustments without creating unnecessary barriers to requesting help.

Equip managers to act

We will help managers set clear expectations, communicate effectively, hold useful conversations, implement agreed support and seek advice when an issue falls outside their role.

Lead, measure and improve

We will assign senior responsibility, select practical priorities, review relevant evidence and report on progress over time.

-  THE CHARTER IN ONE SENTENCE: We will listen, remove avoidable barriers, make support easier to access, equip managers to act and hold ourselves accountable for progress.

How the Charter works

Joining should be simple. Keeping the commitment meaningful requires one small activation step and one light annual review.

1 - Join

Complete the two-minute registration form and accept the five commitments.

2 - Activate within 30 days

Name a senior sponsor and day-to-day contact, choose one practical action and set a target date.

3 - Act

Use the free toolkit and relevant resources to make progress on the selected action.

4 - Review annually

Complete a short progress review, reflect on what changed and select the next priority.

The minimum effective standard

AN ACTIVE SIGNATORY HAS

Five accepted commitments	One named senior sponsor
One practical action	One annual review

The Charter does not require every request to be approved or every difficulty to be removed. It requires fair consideration, better-informed decisions and action on avoidable barriers.

Choose one practical action

Every signatory chooses at least one achievable action for its first 12 months. Starting small is acceptable. The action must be relevant, owned and capable of being reviewed.

Action area	Example first action
Employee voice	Create or improve an accessible way for neurodivergent employees to contribute to relevant decisions.
Working practices	Introduce clearer standards for meetings, written actions, priorities or communication.
Manager capability	Give managers practical guidance, tools or applied development.
Support and adjustments	Review how employees request, receive and revisit workplace support.
Recruitment and onboarding	Review one stage for avoidable barriers and improve access.
Work design and environment	Review flexibility, cognitive load, sensory conditions or opportunities for job crafting.
Performance and progression	Review how expectations, feedback, development or promotion decisions are communicated and assessed.
Data and accountability	Establish a proportionate baseline, measure or reporting process.
Structured insight	Complete the Corporate NIIT or another suitable evidence-based organisational review.

Organisations may select another action that advances one or more Charter commitments. Purchasing a Neuro NEDs service is not a condition of signing.

Status that means something

The Charter uses simple participation statuses. They are not awards or maturity ratings.

Status	What it means	Next step
Registered	The organisation has joined and accepted the five commitments.	Complete activation within 30 days.
Active signatory	A sponsor and contact are named and the first action has been selected.	May use the approved Charter Signatory mark.
Progress reviewed	The annual review has been completed and the next priority selected.	Charter status continues for the next period.

What signing means

- A public commitment to the five Charter principles.
- Named accountability through a senior sponsor and day-to-day contact.
- At least one practical action pursued during each 12-month period.
- A short annual review and a renewed priority.

What signing does not mean

- That the organisation has been audited, certified or accredited by Neuro NEDs.
- That every employee has the same experience or the organisation is fully neuroinclusive.
- That signing provides legal assurance or proves compliance with every duty.
- That every request must be approved or every difficulty can be removed.

Join the Charter

Registration takes around two minutes. The organisation then has 30 days to activate its commitment.

Two-minute registration

- Organisation name
- Your name and job title
- Work email
- Approximate organisation size
- Confirmation that you are authorised to register the organisation
- Agreement to the five Charter commitments

 CALL TO ACTION: Make neuroinclusion more than an intention. Join the Neuro NEDs Charter for Neuroinclusive Performance.

Activate within 30 days

1 Name the senior sponsor

2 Name the day-to-day Charter contact

3 Choose the first practical action

4 Set a target date

The approved Charter Signatory mark is issued when activation is complete.

Annual review

The annual review should take around ten minutes:

- What action did you choose?
- What was completed or changed?
- What difference did it make?
- What got in the way?
- What will you focus on next?

 PUBLIC DESCRIPTION: [Organisation name] is an active signatory to the Neuro NEDs Charter for Neuroinclusive Performance and has committed to take practical action against its five commitments.

Credibility, governance and review

The Charter is an applied Neuro NEDs framework informed by evidence, lived experience and organisational practice. It is designed to promote credible progress without creating an unnecessary reporting burden.

Our commitments as Charter owner

- Neuro NEDs owns and maintains the Charter, signatory rules, marks and associated methodology.
- The Charter and toolkit will be reviewed periodically as evidence, language, law and organisational practice develop.
- Neuro NEDs may suspend or remove signatory status where an organisation materially misrepresents its status, does not activate or review its commitment, or seriously undermines the Charter's integrity.
- Aggregated or anonymised Charter information will only be used with appropriate privacy information and safeguards.

IMPORTANT BOUNDARY: The Charter and its resources provide general organisational guidance. They do not replace legal, clinical, occupational-health or other appropriately qualified professional advice.

ACTION, NOT AWARENESS

Better work.

Stronger performance.

Fairer opportunity.
